

CAMP SOS
For Survivors of Suicide
Those who have lost a loved one to suicide

Camp SOS: Helping Families Move Forward in Their Grief.

A Suicide Tragically Ends One Life.
It Doesn't Have to Destroy Entire Families.

A loss by suicide forever changes lives, but having access to tools that support the journey can help. CAMP SOS gives survivors support to help them travel this journey in a safe environment.

Every suicide leaves an average of six survivors. There are few resources to help these children, teens, and their families cope with the grief and loss. Camp SOS offers:

- Access to a "neutral, safe space" to have fun together in a place where it's OK to express grief
- Support from trained facilitators and volunteers (many of them survivors) who help campers listen, play, and talk through their feelings
- An opportunity to explore their grief and find new ways to interact and cope as a family

Families can share their feelings of loss and grief with each other, with trained counselors, and other families in similar situations. All facilitators are trained in grief and bereavement issues. In addition, specially trained volunteers are present throughout the weekend to listen, talk and play with the campers.
